

Midwinter 2017

You don't ever have to wait for the other shoe to drop. Drop it. Enjoy your blessings now. You are not bound to the effects of yearning. Replace longing with Being. How to do this? First ask for what you want, then believe you've received what you asked for. Feel your satisfaction. Saturate yourself with it. Enjoy it by dwelling in that state of mind, now, before it arrives in the physical realm. Transform your desire into satisfaction by BEING that person who has RECEIVED. Let that consciousness permeate your mind until you feel the satisfaction of it, then release. Relax. It is now on its way. Say thank you.

Where Do You Find Real Nourishment

“There are thousand of things in the world that provide you with only mediocre nourishment; the influences that deeply enrich you with their blessings are much smaller in number.

To say it another way: You derive a bare amount of inspiration and teaching from the great majority of people, songs, images, words, stories, environments, and sights; whereas you draw life-sustaining illumination and spirit-ennobling motivation from just a precious few.

I invite you to identify that special minority, and take aggressive steps to be in ongoing communion with it.”

-Excerpt from Pronoia is the Antidote to Paranoia
by Rob Brezsny, Freewillastrology

Brezsny's description of real nourishment is one of the best I've read so far. Spiritual Currency (songs, images words, etc.) is real nourishment. My work is helping people cultivate ongoing communion and relationship with those 'precious few' things that truly illuminate your soul. # Tarot Reading

Security: Energies of the Mid-Season

Security, four of pentacles, focuses on the material aspects of life: work, finances, health, and home, and how you feel about it all. When this card shows up in a reading you are encouraged to identify your personal sense of security in the midst of wherever you are. Physical things and circumstances are always changing. The question is, how do you find and maintain a sense of stability in the presence of change, even traumatic change?

How do you center yourself when everything is in flux?

What is your Security?

What helps you hold it together? What is it that gives you the feeling of comfort and stability? The appearance of the four of pentacles represents a strong sense of safety; freedom from the pressures and pains of lack, insecurity, and instability. Money in the bank, food in the refrigerator, locks on the door, and pepper spray in your pocket may not be the only things you need to feel secure. Inner peace, confidence, and poise come from within. What can you do today to increase your sense of wellbeing and decrease feelings of anxiety?

Give no place to forecasts rooted in fear and prophecies designed to foster panic and alarm. Base your decisions and actions on faith and sound reason. Know the voice of God in your life, and remember how far you've come.

When this card shows up, it can mean the people around you are panicking about something.

Pentacles represent the material realm: job, money, health, body, and home.

If these things are not in order, it can upset even the most spiritual life. Create balance between all the elements: earth—material; water—emotional; air—mental; fire—action, and spirit—spiritual.

This way, you have all your bases covered, and are less likely to fall prey to every Chicken Little that happens by. The current political climate can easily and exponentially exacerbate any feelings of insecurity. Fear has a way of going viral. Do not allow your newsfeed to paralyze you or you or render you incompetent.

You already know your security is not based on the money in your bank account. Financial security begins with confident giving. Release a portion of what you have to a worthy cause and you are investing in your own prosperity and abundance. Yes, the presence of money in our lives is very important. Security, however, can be present even when actual cash is not. Your security has to be rooted in something far more lasting and stable than financial wealth. Feeling uneasy about your financial future?

Set a budget, call your creditors, consult a financial planner. On a really basic level, we all have some beliefs about money, and these beliefs determine our relationship with money. Deal with your emotional issues around money and you will have

“The Lord is my Banker; I shall not fail. He maketh me to lie down in gold mines; He giveth me the combination of his tills. He restoreth my credit; He showeth me how to avoid law suits for His name’s sake. Yes, though I walk in the very shadow of debt, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; thy silver and thy gold, they rescue me. Thou preparest a way for me in the presence of the collectors; thou fillest my barrels with oil; my measure runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will do business in the name of the Lord forever. Amen.” -Don Gossett found the core of the conversations you could be having with spirit about potential material wealth.

When your wealth is rooted in a source beyond the material, you do not completely fall apart when money is short—you get creative, juggle a few bills, and move on. If you find yourself unable to function due to financial worries, the problem might not really be financial at all. Lack in any area of life can be frightening; for some people, abundance can be just as frightening. How do you perceive the presence of abundance in your life? Can you list all the ways you are rich?

comfort and security, try meditating on Don Gossett's version: "The Lord is my Banker; I shall not fail. He maketh me to lie down in gold mines; He giveth me the combination of his tills. He restoreth my credit; He showeth me how to avoid law suits for His name's sake. Yes, though I walk in the very shadow of debt, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; thy silver and thy gold, they rescue me. Thou preparest a way for me in the presence of the collectors; thou fillest my barrels with oil; my measure runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will do business in the name of the Lord forever. Amen."

Try lessening your stress around finances by setting up an abundance altar. Place on it all the things that represent wealth to you. For example, you might focus on colors like brown for the element of earth and grounding, and green for growth and increase. A plant would go well on this altar; pictures of trees and flowers would also be good. Water is a common symbol for abundance and overflowing so be sure to include some on the altar. This sacred space would be ideal for speaking abundance affirmations, but also a place to write checks for your phone bill and mortgage. On a special piece of stationery, write out a financial agreement with God stating how you intend to use the wealth that is coming your way. Sign it, and mean it. You can burn a smudge made of crushed garlic skin, some powdered cinnamon, a little ground nutmeg, and a smidgen of mint leaf to invoke lasting riches. Lastly, compose prayers that invoke feelings of security, stability, and permanence, and speak them freely. ★

A Timely & Timeless Message

So many people are asking what they can do at this time to help themselves, be of service, and make an impact. Here is an offering of wisdom and strength for this leg of the journey and beyond. Be blessed.

New Moon in Aquarius Message by Maisha Uzuri Asegun

Self Love is revolutionary! Intend with the new moon and sow your 2017 seeds. We are the ones we've been waiting for. Know and love yourself fiercely because no President has ever loved the uniqueness of you. Satisfy your truest needs and fill your loving cup. If your cup is overflowing share your strengths, skills, and treasures without reciprocal expectation. Pay something forward in gratitude for all you've been gifted. Be an instrument of evolution and a beacon of personal authority. Be strong and vulnerable. Think of yourself as an earth and think of the Earth first. Then be self-centered divine.

Aquarius is big energy time with big work. Do not allow yourself to be oppressed, bind yourself from being oppressive. Require your elected officials to never legislate in favor of oppression. Teach your children empowerment and tools to dissolve oppression. Pour water on your body to wash away all manner of dirt. Pour herbed water to wash your floors of all manner of stagnation. Aquarius is a big energy time with big work. Laugh at foolishness as you demolish it with intelligence and compassion. Render your own fears and ignorant behavior neutral and nullified. This is the best way to disarm oppression. Blind them with light and love. Negativity can't stand authentic light and love. Never give up.

Aquarius is big energy time with big work. Enjoy it and do it! You are a world!★
